AUTO WITH AIRPLANE PROPELLER

The weird car shown in the illustration, the "Eolia," was invented and made in Paris and now is starting the staid and stolid inhabitants of London as it rums through the streets of the big metropolis.

The eight-horsepower engine is geared to a small airplane propeller revolving within a circular guard, while the body has a long taper to avoid "drift."

CAR WASHING IS IMPORTANT TASK

Mud Should Never Be Allowed to Remain Over Night as It Is Injurious to Varnish.

USE PLAIN EVERY-DAY WATER

Guard Against Excessive Use of Soap and Let Hood Alone Until It Has Cooled—Go Over Entire Body With Hose and Sponge.

There is a proper time to wash an automobile and the work should be thoroughly done. If mud is allowed to dry on the car it is harder to get off and stains the varnish. Mud should never be permitted to remain on a car any longer than absolutely necessary, by any means not over night. All mud contains alkali, and in some parts of the country is almost clear alkali. Alkali has the same relation to varnish as muriatic or nitric acid has to steel. The antidote is water; isn't it simple, plain every-day water right out the tap.

If one expects to keep a fine car looking fine he must be willing to flush off the mud at night no matter how late it is; the work need not take more than half an hour and the work can be done thoroughly in the morning.

The chief fault to guard against are the excessive use of soap, using water with too much force, and washing the hood before it is cooled.

In the old days no coachman would permit a fine carriage to go unwashed no matter how late he came into the stable at night. You must treat an automobile the same way if you reach the same standard that the old-fashioned coachman reached.

Soap Injures Varnish.

There are two things that should be remembered. First, that soap, gasoline, or anything like them intended to cut grease, will attack varnish if allowed to stand on the car, because oil is an important part of varnish. Second, hot water takes the lustre from varnish.

First of all a car should not be washed out in the sun, because the sun will dry off the water too quickly, leaving water marks; choose a shady place with plenty of light.

Dissolve a little good soap in a pail of water so as to make a soap solution. Have a soft carriage sponge ready. Start with the right hand front wheel and the under side of the fender and that part of the chassis nearest by. Let the water flow from the hose in a gentle stream so that it will carry about six inches from the end of the hose. Go over the wheels, etc., first with water from a hose. Most of the mud will come off. There may be road oil or machine oil, which requires soap. In that case put some of the soap water on these parts, sopping it on freely.

After that has been done start right in with a hose and sponge and wash off. Don't let the soapy water stand more than five minutes on the varnish. Now wash off thoroughly with clean water because all of the mud and grease should have come off by this time. Leave it alone to dry. That completes the right-hand front part of the chassis, and the same work should be done on the three other wheels and adjacent parts. That completes the work on the chassis.

Use Hose and Sponge. Take another clean sponge and with the water still flowing gently from the hose start at the left-hand front of the body and flow all the dust off. There will be no need for soap because machine oil or road oil is never splattered on the body. After flowing the water on, then go over the entire body again with a hose and a wet sponge and wash it. Go entirely around the car, including the top of the fender to the left side, but don't wet the hood. It may still be warm.

Now all the dirt has been flowed off and the sponge should be squeezed as dry as possible and all the water remaining on moldings or in crevices should be picked up.

After all that is done, wash the hood and the top of the radiator. There may be some splatters of machine oil on the hood and if there are use a little soap locally, washing it off soon after it is put on. In any case, don't let the water stand more than five minutes on the hood because it has become heated by the engine and the lustre will be damaged.

You Auto Know

That a simple test of whether the carburetor is properly adjusted is to run for a short distance—say a quarter of a mile—with the throttle practically closed. Then, picking a space where the roadway is clear, step sharply upon the accelerator, thus opening the throttle wide.

If the car speeds up smoothly and rapidly, there is nothing wrong with the carburetor. But if the pick-up is slow, this is an indication that the mixture of gasoline and air is too rich. If the engine splutters, spits and back-fires, the mixture is too lean—a condition which can be temporarily remedied by the use of the "choke" or priming lever on the dashboard. In either case, it is advisable to have the carburetor adjusted as soon as possible, for until this is done, the car will not develop the power which it should. This adjustment, however, should be handled by an expert, for "monkeying with the carburetor" has probably been the cause of more engine trouble than any other single piece of amateur experimenting.

cating systems especially adapted for motor vehicles. The object is to provide a system which insures a proper distribution and application of lubricant to the various elements such as the chassis, springs, steering mechanism, and other mechanism and elements thereof, and is especially adapted to utilize the forces presented by the exhaust of the power plant of the vehicle.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

Keep the engine clean.

Flush the radiator occasionally.

Drain the vacuum tank of impurities.

Grease the wheel bearings at intervals.

Extra tires not in use on the car should be stored in a cool, dark, dry place.

Make sure the jack is secure and in working order before attempting to take off a wheel.

Keep a careful record of the number of miles run, and compare it with the records of each month past for gasoline and tires.

Don't carry spare tubes loosely in the tool box or under the seat; keep them in the special tube bags or wrap them carefully in soft cloth.

When a spotlight is used on the windshield post of a car, its rays should be focused to strike the road immediately in front of the right hand tender.

When working around the engine care should be exercised in the use of the machinist's hammer, which forms a part of the tool equipment of every automobile.

A driver of an automobile should never pass a vehicle proceeding in the same direction unless the road ahead on the left-hand side is clear for at least 100 yards.

Human Vanity in Buying.

Ostrich feather fans, priced in one New York establishment at $150, may be had at another place only a few blocks away for $30. The fans are bought at identical prices in the same wholesale establishment. Because of human vanity, the proprietor of a store which sells to one class of people would no more dare to charge too little than another would dare to charge too much, writes Fred Kelly in The Nation's Business. The woman who pays $30 for a feather fan in an unimportant shop might not be willing to pay much more than that; but the woman who deliberately goes to the most expensive store in town might feel only contempt for the establishment if she found luxury articles there priced within the pocket-book range of the masses.

A Paradise.

Hawaii is in many ways literally an island paradise. Scarcely anywhere else in the world may one roam through tropical jungles with never a thought of poisonous insects or snakes. Such creatures do not exist in these fair islands. Even poison ivy and similar plants are unknown. And though in the edge of the troples, Hawaii has a cooler temperature by ten degrees than any other land in the same latitude. Moreover, one may change his climate at will by a journey of a few miles; for the northeastern half of each island, swept by the trade winds, is rainy and heavily wooded, while just over the mountain ridge is a drier, warmer region.

Substitute Shelves.

"The decorative value of a fireplace and chimney piece can be approximated in a room which lacks this architectural touch, by a shelf supported on brackets extending to the floor in the curved line of a capital. The place selected for this shelf should be the one which would have been chosen for a chimney, had one been put in, and it should be of the length and breadth appropriate to a mantel in that space. Its color and finish must match that of the woodwork in the room and its ornaments carry out the idea of a chimney piece. In front of it a sofa may be drawn, its back turned to the mock chimney, thus calling attention away from the absence of grate and hearth.

Greenland Once Fertile? Owing to the vast fields of ice, except on small strips of coast line, and the arctic temperature, there is very little vegetation in Greenland. The country, however, exports whale and seal oil, elderdown, fox and seal skins. There is a cryolite mine at Ivigtut and copper, lead, iron and zinc are found. There are also large cod and haddock fisheries on the west coast. The whole trade being a monopoly of the Danish government. The population on the coast is about 13,400 Eskimos and some 300 Danes. There are traditions that Greenland had once a considerable population and a fertile coast line, before the ice fringe formed about it.

Getting Teak to Market.

In Burma from the time the teak log enters the water upon one of the tributaries of the Irrawaddy river, it generally takes about two years for it to reach the mill at tidewater. The first rains which bring down the floods pick up the logs in a jam and carry them down to the main river, which usually just about disposes of the available water of the season. The following season they go down the main stream properly boomed; but as the stream is very rapid the logs require no towing. On the back of the boom, the native log runners or boom tenders erect bamboo houses and take up their residence.

GREEKS BATTLE TURKS IN THRACE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Athens, Sept. 30.—Turkish irregulars in Thrace (European soil) violated the neutral zone in the Istranjan district, north of Constantinople by occupying the village of Sakaalan where they massacred eleven Greek outpost soldiers, General Polymenakos, Greek commander in Thrace, reported today.
The Greeks counter-attacked, killing 26 Turks and driving the Turkish irregulars from the village.
Greek casualties in the fighting at Sakaalan, were one dead and one wounded.
This is the first severe fighting between Turks and Greeks on European soil since the Near East war broke out. Hitherto the fighting had been confined to Asia Minor.

WHEN SOME OF CITY'S BIG FIRES OCCURRED

In answer to several inquiries made of The Freeman within the past few days as to the date when the Academy of Music on East O'Reilly street was destroyed by fire, the date is June 11, 1901. In case there is any argument going on as to other important fires the following dates are given to settle disputes as to other fires twenty or more years ago: No. 11 School on Crown street burned on February 2, 1901. American Hotel run by Ernest Steuding on January 27, 1901. Van Deusen's drug store on the Strand, April 13, 1901. Another memorable fire in this city occurred on February 25, 1877, when the Merchant's Hotel, corner Broadway and St. James street, now the site of the Crosby building, was destroyed. Military Hall on North Front street and other buildings, about Nos. 43 and 45, were burned and Stillwell Joy and Jacob Schoonmaker lost their lives when buried by a falling wall, on Sunday December 7, 1880.

Rummage Sale Planned.

At a largely attended meeting of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Holy Spirit, held on Thursday evening at the rectory, it was decided to hold a rummage sale in the near future, the date to be announced later. Those having articles of clothing, furniture, books, bric-a-brac or anything they would like to contribute may leave them at the rectory. People having bulky articles may communicate with the president, Mrs. W. R. Anderson, telephone 102-M, and they will be called for.

Awarded Partial Scholarship.

Walter J. Kidd of this city has been awarded a partial scholarship by the Ithaca Conservatory of Music as the result of the recent examination and competition in which students from every state of the Union took part. The scholarship entitles the winner to one-half the regular tuition in the piano department for one term.

Why the Moon is Arid.

The moon is a smaller globe than the earth. Its gravity is only one-sixth of that of ours. As a consequence the atmospheric pressure normal to the moon is far too low to condense water. Steam issuing from a vent remains steam. The internal forces of the steam's molecules are greater than the attractive force of the moon. Steam flew away as it emerged, leaving the moon arid and waterless. —Chicago Tribune.

Secret of Administration.

The culminating point of administration is to know well how much power, great or small, we ought to use in all circumstances.—Montesquieu.

When You Build— Specify Small Coal Bills

When you build that new home, specify a heating system insulated with Johns-Manville Improved Asbestocel.

That is the economical time to insure before the building is finished. And Improved Asbestocel continues the economy. It is the most efficient insulation for home heating plants.

Have us apply it to your new heating system. Use less fuel and have more comfort in your new house than you did in the old one.

We have been selected as dealers for this product because we are equipped to apply it neatly and economically. Ask for a copy of the booklet "Bare Pipes Waste Fuel."

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 30, 1922.

During the past summer American tourists are said to have spent $700,000,000 in Europe. After all we can hardly be called a hermit nation, notwithstanding our government's official aloofness and policy of non-participation.

Archbishop Curley of Baltimore who has just returned from a visit to Ireland, says the people of that unhappy country are overwhelmingly for the Free State, and that the followers of De Valera, who are less than 5 per cent of the population, and have no constructive program, are merely "killing, burning, destroying and wrecking Ireland as far as they can." Just for the fun of it, so to say—and yet they are receiving material aid from many of the Irish in the United States.

SOME DIFFERENCE.

There was a period when an election promise counted for no more than the wind, and it was not worth as much for the reason there are occasions when a wind is welcome, particularly on a hot day. There are those who can remember when pledges were made by candidates without any thought or intention of carrying them out. This may not apply to candidates for high offices but it does attach to some positions which must be obtained through the ballot. Instances could be given of promises unfulfilled, but fortunately the practice of promising everything and doing nothing has lessened appreciably.

Two years ago a man made some promises, and that man was Nathan L. Miller. He told the people what he would do were he elected and he did more than he promised and more than he expected to accomplish. He said he would reduce state expenditures and would give the state a business administration. Governor Miller knew that he had a job on his hands and he knew that with all he could do there would be much more than could be done. It may be remembered that he said if he could get a few things started, besides saving the people some money, he would be satisfied. This he has done.

The people of New York state respect Governor Miller because he has kept his word. He checked extravagance and laid the foundation for further economies and greater production for money spent. The state's business is being conducted more intelligently and the people are getting much more for their money. The most of the Governor's time was consumed in getting things in order, but this he did and results prove that he knew where to start and how to progress.

In Governor Miller the people have a chief executive who stands out clearly among the executives of the nation. He is accepted as a man with the courage and the ability to conduct public business. That he made some promises two years ago, and kept them, tells that between now and the good old days there is some difference in the management of public affairs. What Governor Miller said he would do he did, and he added a few things for which the people are thankful.

GUILTY PEDESTRIANS.

The New York health authorities, in a report based on the statistics of 1921, put the blame for street accidents on pedestrians. They find that accidents were most frequent in cases of pedestrians between 5 and 14 years who are active enough but indiscreet, and in cases of pedestrians over 56 who have attained to years of discretion but have lost in bodily activity. "It is evident from these figures," reads the report, "that pedestrians are largely responsible for accidents of this sort because they occurred during the period of life when on the one hand they are careless, and on the other hand when because of infirmities of age they are unable to cope with the inevitable dangers of street traffic." In other words, as extreme youth is reckless or light-headed and infirm age cannot jump quickly enough they are to blame when they are run over. But what about the causes of accidents among those between the ages of 14 and 56? Doubtless many of them are not nimble enough either, for trained athletes and gymnasts form a relatively small minority. Then there are the near-sighted who are not quick to see the coming juggernaut, and the partially or wholly deaf who do not hear the "honk" not to venture to speak of the very many heard-ears who do not hear the "honk" because none is sounded. Often the juggernaut comes silently as well as swiftly, brushing the very clothes of the unconscious citizen who is vainly trying to look everywhere at once. If the whole blame is to be saddled on pedestrians there can be little hope of fewer killings—unless the streets are practically reserved for wheel traffic and only trained athletes and gymnasts, perfect in sight and hearing as well as physical agility, are allowed by license to walk.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Will captive owls live on raw meat alone?
2. I have a turtle that seems able to feed under water and out of it. Isn't unusual?
3. If as you say, fishes do not take care of their young, how do you explain the frequent sight of the horned pout followed by a school of tiny fishes?

Answers to Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. How can we keep English sparrows out of our bird houses? Try to keep the sparrows out of your neighborhood! They can't get into wren's nests, as the hole is too little, but will steal any box with an entrance they can pass. Break up their nest as fast as you find one if being built. A decoy nesting box with hinged bottom is good—you can open it at night and dump nest, eggs, birds, and all into a cloth bag held under. Don't supply perches on your bird houses—sparrows love them.
2. Does the western woodchuck follow the same habits as the eastern? To the extent of being a vegetable eater and living in a hole, yes, but the western variety shows a preference for rocky country and a home in natural cracks between rock of slide formation, though it also does burrow. The western chuck is less of a garden-truck thief, but is guilty of damage done to inside of cabins and their furniture, by gnawing.
3. Please identify this specimen bug that I found on a crate of oranges from Florida. The specimen was an Eyed Elater, one of the click, or snapping, beetles, Elateridae. They are common, and it probably happened to be on the crate from Florida. Described in Sanderson & Jackson's Elementary Entomology as "a large species an inch and a half long, blackish flecked with gray, with two large, velvet-black, white-rimmed eyespots on the thorax." Some Unabridged Dictionaries give a picture under Elateridae.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

THE PARADISE FISH

"We're very popular in the aquarium," said Mr. Paradise Fish to Mrs. Paradise Fish.

"Yes, they seem to like us," said Mrs. Paradise Fish.

"And they say nice things about us, too," said Mr. Paradise Fish.

"It is not kind to keep pleasant thoughts to one's self. Now, of course, as a fish I cannot go about explaining everything I think and feel, but I show what I enjoy the best way I can.

"I show that I enjoy my food. I show that I am a bright fish.

"Oh yes, I show what I can do so as to let others know when I am enjoying myself.

"For example they all know that I will eat anything a gold fish will eat and that my desires in the way of food are not hard to follow.

"To be sure I do not take little bites of food. But then why speak of my table manners?

"I never sit at a table and so I am not supposed to have table manners.

"And anyway I may take big bites, but I have pretty nice manners.

"Yes, my aquarium manners are very good.

"I can change my color. From being a brown fish with handsome stripes I can change into lovely shades of red and blue and green.

"Good food, or different kinds of food, happiness, excitement, pleasure will make me turn a pretty shade.

"That is why I am called a paradise fish. I suppose, because of my lovely coloring and beauty.

"I can breathe the air, too, though I do not climb up out of the water as the climbing perch does when he is about to take some air.

"Mr. Climbing Perch's fins are such that he can climb upon the land.

"Mine are not like that.

"My family live in Asia and Africa and they eat flies and insects while they live in swampy places.

"Now just because I am beautiful is to reason why I should not be healthy.

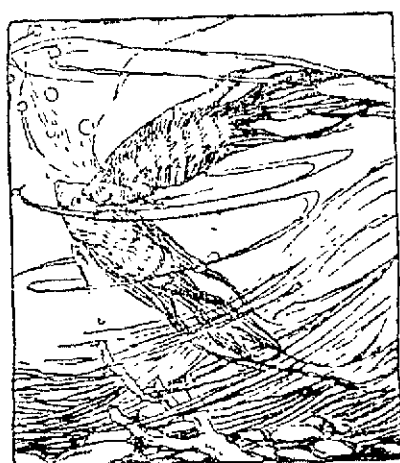

"And I am a healthy fish, too.

"I don't see why I should make everyone fuss over me just because I am beautiful—I'm not delicate and I am not going to pretend to be delicate.

"Ah yes, I think I've told pretty nearly all about myself as I've been asked to do. And I must tell about the little ones, too."

"Of course, you must," said Mrs. Paradise Fish. "And all that you have said about yourself is true, but you haven't told about the nest building."

"That is most interesting to those who do not know our ways. I've heard many a person speak of our nests and of the way we build them as being most interesting.

"You're a Nice Fish."

"The aquarium people love the way we do this."

"Oh yes," said Mr. Paradise Fish. "I will explain."

"Well, first of all I blow a bubble nest at the top of the water and attach it to floating plant."

"Then you come under the nest and you put the eggs down and they rise right into the nest."

"And you wear such a pretty white costume when you are looking after them. I guard the eggs carefully too, and I keep the nest in perfect condition, but when the little ones are old enough to swim you have to take them away from me for I may eat them up in my hunger."

"Yes," said Mrs. Paradise Fish. "It is so strange that after you have done everything to protect and care for the little eggs, and have gone without food so as to be on constant watch that you will then turn around and eat the ones you have sacrificed so much for."

"Yes, it is curious."

"But then of course we are not perfect. Sometimes Paradise Fishes may be cross with one another and greedy about their food, even showing their neighbor away."

"Still on the whole we do pretty well. Now there is Mr. Gourmand Fish. He will kill his mate in his excitement over guarding the eggs."

"Oh, I've no complaint to make," said Mrs. Paradise Fish. "To me you're a nice fish; yes, a very nice fish, indeed."

The KITCHEN CABINET

(C. 1922, by Western Newspaper Union)

Go to it! Even an electric button won't accomplish anything unless it is pushed. When men and women have their meals and work in common the thing like electric speed.

VARIETY FOR YOUR TABLE

The greatest help in avoiding monotony in meals is the weekly planning ahead of the meals. An occasional meal may be left blank and filled in with such leftovers as are found available.

The kind of food we serve depends upon the kind of people we are to serve. A child needs plain, wholesome food, as do hungry men. When one has a heavy main dish, a light dessert should follow, and when serving a light main dish, a hearty dessert.

Fats in meats need acid fruits and tart flavors to cut them and make them both appetizing and digestible.

During the heated term the meat dishes should be cut down. Nitrogenous foods have a process of putrefaction which is peculiar to that food. By this decomposition by-products are formed, which are more or less poisonous. Vegetable foods may ferment and cause irritation, but with animal foods, as well as the protein vegetable foods like peas and beans, these poisons often cause auto-intoxication. The vast majority who suffer in this way are overeaters. Going without a meal once or twice a week, or fasting a day, would improve the health of two-thirds of the overfat and self-indulgent. The individual who cannot say "no" to his appetite, "for his stomach's sake," will not stand very firm on higher demands.

In dishes requiring milk, the overfat should use skim milk. This will make a very acceptable soup; rice and tapioca may be cooked in skim milk; chicken and ham, which is such a favorite dish baked in milk. The skim milk may be used, at much less expense.

Veal en Casserole.—Cut the veal in serving-sized pieces, roll in seasoned flour and brown in a little fat. Have the casserole hot, add the meat with a chopped green pepper and one small onion, also chopped. Add a little hot water, cover and cook slowly for three hours. Add seasonings when the dish is half-cooked. An old foal, squirrel or rabbit may be made into a most tasty dish by this long slow-cooking.

The Worthy Amateur.

There is no excuse for amateur work being bad. Amateurs often excuse their shortcomings on the ground that they are not professionals, the professional could plead with greater justice that he is not an amateur.

The question is, what is the amateur an amateur of? What is he really in love with? Is he in love with other people, thinking he sees something which he would like to show them? If this is his position he can do no wrong, the spirit in which he works will insure that his defects will be only as bad spelling or bad grammar in the pretty saying of a child.—Samuel Butler.

DEAN HICKEY'S LAST RECEPTION

Friday Evening Devoted to Farewells to Parishioners and Knights of Columbus—Receives Check for $1,500 and Godspeed From All—Leaves $40,000 Rectory Fund.

The response of the members of St. Mary's congregation, Knights of Columbus and friends of the Very Rev. Dean Hickey to the call for a farewell reception to the Dean at St. Mary's Hall Friday evening was tremendously large. The entire spacious hall was filled to its capacity.

Dean Hickey was the host at receptions given by institutions and organizations with which he was associated and by numerous friends ever since notice of his removal was announced but he reserved the last night for his parishioners. The Knights of Columbus not having had an opportunity took this time to express their regrets in losing their worthy chaplain.

A delegation of men of St. Mary's parish gathered at the rectory and at 8 o'clock escorted Dean Hickey, who was accompanied by the Rev. Fathers Duffy, Fagan, Cushman, Ostermann and De Krom to the stage in St. Mary's School Hall. The Imperial Orchestra entertained while the clergy and representatives were taking their places. A mighty round of applause was given Dean Hickey as he walked through the center aisle of the room.

St. Mary's choir opened the program, rendering several beautiful numbers. Andrew J. Cook, chairman of the evening, on behalf of the parishioners of St. Mary's very eloquently expressed their regrets in having Dean Hickey leave them and this city. Mr. Cook told of the pleasant relations existing between Father Hickey and the people of Kingston, going back to the first day he came here with "the blessed oils of ordination still wet upon his hands."

His work as a curate assuaging and softening the work of his pastor, Monsignor Burtzell, and his accomplishments while at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, were also described as well as the many followers he won through the city and county. Chairman Cook said in closing that Dean Hickey was widely known as an eloquent preacher and his services as an orator were always in demand. His sweetness, frankness and neglect of self characterized Dean Hickey's work and he would be greatly missed. Words are pitifully inadequate on this rare, dear, beloved Father Hickey, that wherever your path may lead you, whatever burdens you may have to bear, you should be strengthened with the thought that the people of St. Mary's congregation are with you.

Mr. Cook was loudly applauded by the throng, who at this time were outwardly displaying their deep sorrow.

A number of songs were rendered by the choir and Thomas F. Coughlin representing the Knights of Columbus read a resolution recounting the debt of gratitude owed by Kingston Council, No. 275, to its departing chaplain, how his strong mind and wise counsel had been invaluable since its formation by a small band of pioneer Columbians more than twenty years ago, and extending to him the Knights' best wishes for happiness in his new field.

Mr. Coughlin told Dean Hickey it was never a pleasant task to say good-bye and it was extremely hard when bidding farewell to a true soldier, who makes a great sacrifice, to serve God and Country. Concluding he assured Father Hickey that his bright, cheerful, happy soul with a sensitive heart and a temperament opened to emotion would long live in the hearts of his brother knights.

Edward T. McGill was the next speaker to voice words of affection for Dean Hickey and he presented him with a check for $1,500 as a remembrance of his parishioners. "Together with this token," Mr. McGill said "goes the best wishes for your future success and happiness and the good parishioners will be mindful at all times of you in their prayers."

Following the singing of a number of solos Dean Hickey responded. "The work that has been accomplished by me while here," Father Hickey said "was achieved with the greatest amount of happiness, that will never be surpassed or never forgotten. Throughout my twenty seven years of priestly life spent in Ulster county I came in the possession of many acquaintances which I never have forgotten. Men of today were boys of yesterday, when first I met them."

In dealing with the young men of St. Mary's congregation, Father Hickey told of the days when he was in charge of the Temperance Cadets, an organization of 300 young men who took the pledge of total abstinence until they reached the age of twenty-one and the great joy he received when there same men kept their pledges, some extending it for life.

"All through these years of my administration my life has been inspired by the good people of St. Mary's. In the schools, observance of Lent, holy days and their duty to the church, were so strictly adhered to that life was a continuous round of pleasure. I acknowledge I am a long talker and I am always willing to say something at all times, but the people of St. Mary's are to blame, they educated me. They so closely followed my teachings that at all times I was extending, which necessitated my delving into the most intricate problems arising."

He told of the great credit due St. Mary's congregation in having the debts of their school and church quickly paid off. $40,000 is still in the treasury with which to build a rectory which is also due to the faithfulness of this parish. "But all this is not enough for there is still a great deal of work to be done and the priest who follows me here should receive the same support as you gave me. Whoever he is I do not know at this time but always give him your cooperation and his life will be also one of great satisfaction. It is with great regret that I leave St. Mary's and the call which I have received has been an insistent one made by Archbishop Hayes. I emphatically stated numerous times that I would not leave St. Mary's Church, but all this was from a selfish standpoint. I was supremely happy and wanted to stay here."

Dean Hickey then told in broken tones of his receiving his appointment to St. Joseph's Church, New York city, one of the largest and wealthiest parishes in the diocese. "Following the burial of Monsignor Edwards, which I attended, Archbishop Hayes desired an interview with me. He ordered me St. Joseph's parish, but I declined. He told me to pray hard for I would be called on again. Assuring him that I was always in obedience and renewing my promise to him, when he was consecrated bishop that I was always with him, I came home to Kingston feeling that his wish would be withdrawn. Finally after four times of withdrawing and renewing I was asked if I were going to keep the promise I made and I consented, saying that he would have to say good-bye to me. But I feel stronger now, much more so than I ever expected to be. Good-bye."

Dean Hickey left for New York after 7 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church this morning.

NEW CURATE AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH SUNDAY

Kidd Succeeded as Organist by Miss Wescker—Other Choir Changes.

The Rev. Andrews Chapman, who has been appointed curate at Holy Cross Church, will arrive in the city tomorrow and take up his residence at Holy Cross rectory. Father Chapman will deliver the sermon at the high Mass Sunday morning.

The church school will resume its sessions Sunday afternoon, and it is anticipated that all the children of the parish will be present. Confirmation classes for children will be begun Saturday, October 7, at 9 a. m. All children eight years old or over should register for these instructions. The instruction will be preceded by a sung Mass for all the children of the parish.

The usual sung vespers will be resumed this coming Sunday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The very beautiful music which has always characterized this service at Holy Cross will again enhance the afternoon worship.

A number of changes have taken place in the choir at Holy Cross. Walter J. Kidd, Jr., who for five years past has been the very efficient organist, resigned to accept a scholarship at the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. His place has been filled by Miss Elsa Wescker of Rhinebeck, an associate of the American Guild of Organists, whose art is of a high merit. The place of soprano soloist, made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Anthony Kohl, who has gone into light opera, has been filled by Miss Josephine Helmsmoortel of Saugerties, while Harry Clearwater's place is filled by Edgar Stanley of Saugerties, basso profundo. Miss Edith Mayer, contralto, and Herman La Tour, tenor, continue as soloists. Several additions have been made to the chorus.

SEVEN DEAD IN NEW YORK FIRE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 30.—Seven persons are dead and ten injured as a result of a fire which swept through the five-story apartment building at No. 241 West 109th street in the heart of the fashionable upper West Side early today. Police believe a firebug set the blaze.

The dead:
Wilbur Fenn, 45.
Wilbur Fenn, Jr., his son, 16.
William Hummel, 16.
Harry Hoff, 15.
Irene Hoff, 21.
Flora Hoff, 18.
Unidentified boy, about 12.

Three firemen were injured in trying to rescue the sleeping tenants and seven tenants were burned or injured in leaping from windows. All were taken to hospitals.

According to firemen, the blaze started on the second floor and raged upwards. The tenants on the upper floors became panic-stricken when smoke filled their apartments and they found escape by means of the stairways cut off. Many of them leaped from windows.

WARREN'S SHOW WINDOW QUICKENS HUNTER'S BLOOD

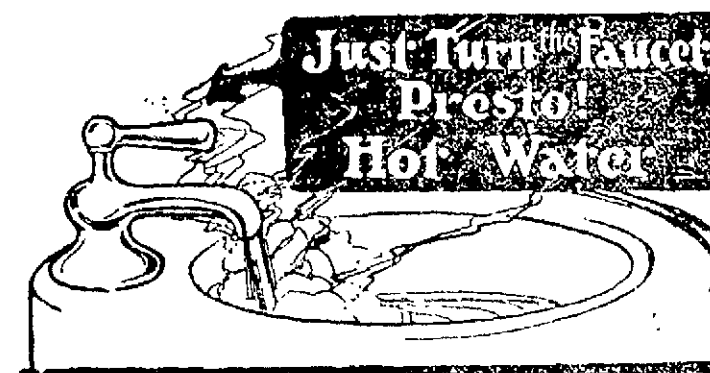

The large show window in the Charles A. Warren sporting goods store, 260 Fair street, always making an attractive display artistically arranged, is now attracting much attention from pedestrians who stop and admire the novel manner the window is dressed. The scheme is a wood scene with branches of pine trees and oak trees the latter covered with autumn foliage. In the background between the branches of pine is the head of a doe and the head of a buck deer with antlers while in the foreground artistically placed are a stuffed woodchuck, a raccoon, a chipmunk, two squirrels, an owl, a fox and a golden pheasant they being fine specimens while suspended in the center is a large stuffed sparrow hawk. Scattered about to make a more complete hunting scene are guns, hunting knives and shells, used by hunters.

Sarcasm Is Not Wit.
Native wit loses nothing when it is tempered by courtesy. A smart girl whose speech has never been governed by restraint is liable to degenerate into that social terror, the "lemon," whose every comment is like biting acid. There are rare occasions when sarcasm is as useful as a surgeon's lance, but who wants to be operated on unnecessarily? "Miss O'Brien could use her tongue with telling effect—is there an Irish woman who cannot?—but her cutting phrases were reserved for the cruel and the false." There, in Douglas Goldring's graphic phrasing, is a portrait of the horn-clever gentlewoman who never uses her weapon of wit unfairly and discourteously.

Does Sciatica Make You a Cripple?

Does sciatica make you a cripple? unable to get out of bed? Or is your case a mild one that merely makes moving around a misery, with pain a constant companion?

Sciatica is a form of neuritis or neuralgia of the sciatic nerve. It may be present without either liver or kidneys being inactive. In this respect it differs from rheumatism, which is always accompanied by costiveness and kidney trouble. Sciatica is caused by pressure on the sheath of the sciatic nerve, and this pressure causes an inflammation and swelling of the sheath, which compresses the nerve, and causes the constant pain which is the characteristic symptom of the disease.

TWO YEARS OF SUFFERING ENDS

"For more than two years prior to consulting a chiropractor, I had been suffering with sciatic rheumatism. In August, 1919, I was suffering intense pain, and it was so bad that I was unable to work, and in fact was unable to move about at all. The first chiropractic spinal adjustment brought relief, but I continued through December, when I was discharged. I have been shoeing horses ever since, without return of the trouble."—John Schaus, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Sworn Statement No. 1234R.

STILLMAN DETERMINED TO PROCURE DIVORCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 30.—Although the principals in the Stillman divorce case could not be reached today, it became known that James A. Stillman, millionaire banker, is planning a bitter fight to have the report of Daniel J. Gleason, the referee, which was made public yesterday, rejected.

The banker is so determined to get a divorce, it was rumored, that should he be unsuccessful in having Gleason's report set aside, he may institute divorce proceedings in Paris, where he has a residence.

It is estimated the case has cost Mr. Stillman approximately $1,000,000 thus far.

Colonial Houses Cold.

Colonial houses were cold in winter, according to books of that time. One volume tells of icy blasts that blew down Cotton Mather's great chimney so heavily that this noted divine recorded the fact in his diary. He speaks of a "great fire that the dulces forced out at the end of short billets of wood by the heat of the flame on which they were laid, yett froze into ice on their coming out." Judge Sewall wrote 20 years later: "An extraordinary Cold Storm of Wind and Snow. Bread was frozen at the Lord's Table. Even though it was so cold yet John Tuckerman was baptised. At 6 o'clock my ink freezes so that I can hardly write by a good fire in my Wives Chamber." Cotton Mather tells in his pompous fashion of a cold winter's day four years later: "Tis dreadful cold, my ink glass in my standish is froze and split in my very stove. My ink in my pen suffers a congelation."

Plants That Now Are Coal.

Beneath every coal seam is a stratum of so-called "fire-clay," which once upon a time was soil that supported a plant growth of wonderful luxuriance. It is full of fossil plant roots and contains abundant impressions of twigs, leaves, nuts and delicate ferns—sometimes even flowers. The impressions show that ferns and giant mosses of extinct species contributed very largely to the making of the coal. Similar "casts" are found plentifully in the strata of slate which immediately overlie seams of coal, and now and then the miners come upon an entire fossil trunk of a big tree mashed flat between layers of this black slate, which anciently was mud. The age of these fossils can only be estimated. Science tells us they are millions of years old.

FOX PUPS REARED BY MAINE RANCHER'S CAT

Youngsters Show No Fear of Owner or Visitors and Are Very Playful.

Fox pups have been reared by mother dogs, it is said, but it has remained for a Maine silver fox ranchman, Frank A. Harvey, to bring up a litter of fox pups with a cat foster-mother.

Pussy still wanders interestingly about the big fox pens where her last season's pups have grown to her own size and would still fondle them if she could. But Mr. Harvey believes that they would make a meal of her today if they could reach her.

"I wanted to see how far I could go in semi-domesticating these foxes," he said. "Every one knows how wary the fox is. Frightened by dogs, or guns, or strangers, and unable to bury or hide the newly born pups the mother may kill them by just carrying them around in her fear. So I have been trying to overcome the fox's fear of men and animals."

"I felt that if I could raise a litter of the fox pups on a mother cat they would become accustomed to our handling them, fondling them, talking to them, accustomed to strangers and the barking of dogs, and learn their protection from all harm while in our care."

"We had our difficulties. We had to give over the whole lower floor of our home to the experiment, but it was worth while for once, although I am afraid the trouble would deter us again."

"The pups responded to the treatment and show confidence and playfulness with me and no fear of visitors, passing dogs or the occasional hunter and his gun in the woods near by."

WOMEN LETTER CARRIERS EMPLOYED AT SYRACUSE

Here is Miss Mary Doyle, one of the women letter carriers of East Syracuse, N. Y. Miss Doyle, unlike the time-honored male mail carrier doesn't use a whistle to announce her approach, as her pet dog "Delivery" barks as Miss Doyle mounts the steps of each house to deliver mail. Residents on her route know Miss Doyle by name, as well as the dog, although the folks are in doubt as to whether "Delivery" is special or general.

FLAGMAN AN HEIR

Was Only a Signaller, but a Life-Long Friend Gave Him a Farm.

From a crossing watchman to the owner of one of the largest farms in the fruit district of Michigan is the rapid change of events in the life of George H. Thompson, Hibbing resident, who has inherited a $25,000 farm near Benah, Mich.

When Leonard Newkirk, his life-long friend died, he willed the farm to Thompson. They had been friends for more than forty years.

The property inherited is a forty-acre shore tract and is planted in peaches, grapes, apples and other fruits. It is considered one of the most modern fruit farms in lower Michigan. Thompson will return to Hibbing, assume his crossing duties again and in the spring move to Benah.

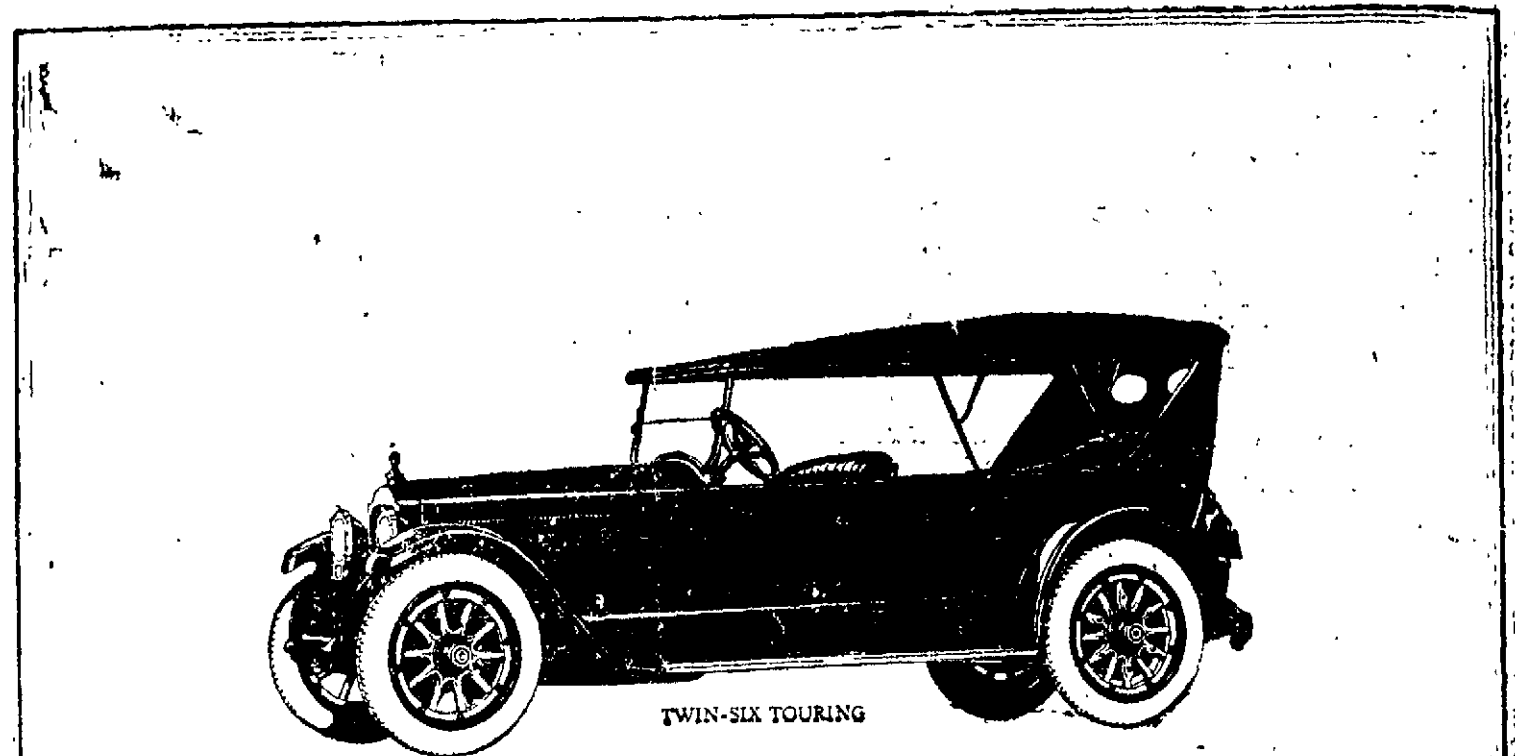

Thompson has been watchman and flagman at the Fifth avenue crossing in Hibbing for several months.

"Rattlesnake Bill" Quits.

William Van Horn, who for many years has frequented the Delaware valley, known far and wide as "Rattlesnake Bill" because of his familiarity with rattlesnakes, has been committed to the state hospital at Rittersville, Pa., where it is believed he will spend the remainder of his days. It is said that Van Horn has captured more than 5,000 rattlesnakes in his lifetime, and has always declared that he had no more fear of them than he had of a kitten.

Many Breeds of Dogs.

Authorities list 51 breeds of dogs as comprising the category found at the leading dog shows held under the auspices of recognized kennel clubs. These are all that are used in the ordinary vocations or sports of life.

Bird Builds Fancy Bungalow.

The bower bird of Australia builds a very elaborate nest which resembles a bungalow. When this is finished the bird proceeds to decorate it with flowers and other objects of bright colors. Any other bird which undertakes to interfere with the decorations is 'n for a good thrashing, for the bower bird objects to any criticism of its work.

Moon Absolutely Without Water.

There is no water on the moon. The mountains there are as dry as powder. They are desiccated far beyond the extremes of the most parched of earthly deserts. On this globe there is always a little water to be found, even in the most baked and unpromising spots. Only a few drops, perhaps, but water, on the moon there is not over one drop.—S. I. Maxwell, in the Chicago Tribune.

Women Athletes Get Good Pay.

Some of the women athletic directors at girls' schools in England are paid as much as $2,500 a year.

Kill Turkey Buzzard.

The green fly and the turkey buzzard are two of mankind's worst enemies, because they help spread malignant parasites and other malignant forms of disease. The buzzard was in large measure responsible for the spread of rinderpest in South Africa, cholera in India and the epidemic that killed off the water buffalo in the Philippines. The green fly and the turkey buzzard should be killed on sight.—Thrill Magazine.

Hyman Doesn't Attend Convention
Nominating Session—Five From Up State On Ticket—Smith To Start Campaign After Few Days Rest.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30.—With election day only five weeks distant, the Democratic leaders of New York state scattered to their homes today to inaugurate a whirlwind, thirty-day campaign to put ex-Governor Al Smith back in the gubernatorial chair at Albany.

That the job cut out for them is a monumental one, in view of the factional bitterness engendered by the deadlock that existed for two days during the state convention here, was conceded on all sides today. But confidence was expressed, particularly by upstate leaders, that it can be done. The downstate leaders, embracing Tammany, Kings and Queens counties were outwardly confident but privately apprehensive.

They regard the return of Mayor John F. Hyman to New York, without making any statement and without attending the nominating session of the convention with foreboding.

Ex-Governor Smith planned to return to his home in New York today for a few days' rest before beginning the strenuous five weeks' campaign ahead. A number of party councils will be held early next week to lay out a program.

Upstate candidates secured five places on the Democratic ticket in the final hours of slate-making, as compared with six upstate nominees on the Republican ticket at Albany this week. The Democratic candidates will go on the November ballots as follows.

For governor
Alfred E. Smith of New York
For United States senator,
Dr. Royal S. Copeland of New York.

For lieutenant governor
George R. Linn of Schenectady
For secretary of state
James A. Hamilton of the Bronx.

For attorney general
Carl Sherman of Buffalo
For state controller
James W. Fleming of Troy.

For treasurer
Captain George K. Shuler of Wayne.

For engineer and surveyor
Dwight La Du of Albany.
The Democratic drive to oust the Republican administration at Albany will be based principally on those planks in the Syracuse platform which pledge the party to home rule for cities and lower rates for all public utilities, transportation, gas, electricity and water, according to party leaders who remained over here today.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES
IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

Another ex-member of the house of Huggins rose up in his righteous wrath to bite the hand that once led him when Jack Quinn shut the Yankees right out, 1 to 0 and prevented them from scoring the victory that would have clinched the pennant.

The Browns kept right in the hunt by knocking off the White Sox, 3 to 2 in the first game of a series, a feature being Johnny Tobin's two homers at the expense of Urban Fieber.

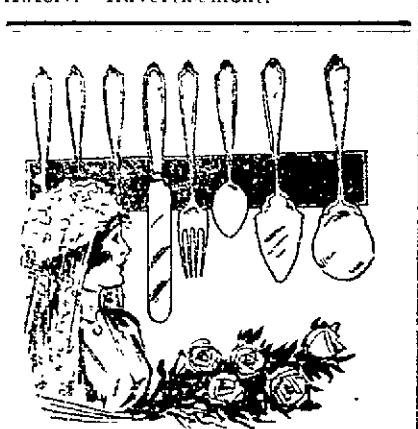

In a game featured by Osborne's pitching, the Cubs gained a 3 to 0 verdict over the Cardinals.

The Athletics beat the Senators in a doubleheader, 4 to 3 and 3 to 4. Rummel scoring his twenty-sixth victory of the season.

Glascio Store Robbed.
Early Friday morning thieves broke into the general store of Henry Fuller of Glascio and ransacked the place, taking a small amount of money and a quantity of stock, the exact amount and value not being known. Entrance was made through a rear window. The troopers have been notified and an investigation is being made.

First Sclerosis Meeting.
Sclerosis will hold its first meeting of the season on Monday, October 2, at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Vernon Hull, No. 28 Liberty street.

Dancing—Every Thursday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at the Center Hotel, Lake Katrine, Muno & Botta, proprietors (formerly Marz's Hotel).—Advertisement.

WILLS LOSES PRESTIGE IN JOHNSON FIGHT.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 30.—Showing little of the speed and punching power that had made him a foremost contender for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown, Harry Wills managed to score a technical knockout over Clem Johnson in the 12 rounds at Madison Square Garden last night, but not before the latter had given Wills the fight of his life.

The so-called Black Panther lost considerable prestige as a result of the exhibition.
Stung by the taunts of the crowds, Wills rushed his rival to the ropes in the eleventh and battered him at will. Johnson was almost helpless when he came out for the twelfth and after a minute and forty seconds of one-sided battling, the referee halted the proceedings.

Last Night's Fights.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
At Milwaukee—Clonie Tail of New York beat Ever Hammer, of Chicago, in 10 rounds. Lightweights.

At Grand Rapids—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, outpointed Captain Bob Roper, in 10 rounds.

At New York—Harry Wills stopped Clem Johnson in twelfth round. Floyd Johnson, of California, stopped Whitey Allen of New York, in the first round.

Obtains Position.

Miss Beatrice Barley, an experienced graduate of Spencer's Business School, has obtained a position as stenographer and typist with Van Etten & Cook, attorneys-at-law, John street.

Escaped From Bedford.

Local police headquarters have been notified of the escape from the Bedford institution for women of Anna Halstead of this city, and a young Jewess.
